

Warwick Broadhead invites you to host his performance/lecture for you and your friends in your very own home

Having a Life & Being Idle

An evening of humour, philosophies, and pure capriciousness as Warwick gently leads you into an idyll where being idle is honoured amidst the busy-ness of life

Through the palpating of an ancient fable Warwick's ingenious story-telling takes the audience into many fascinating tangents

Season runs from September to early December, 2009

Like an evening at the theatre, you and your friends pay $25 per ticket My fee for the performance is $625 for up to 25 people
For more than 25, the fee is negotiable Suited to an adult audience

Audience invited to bring a thermos of tea and their favourite cup and saucer for enjoyment of tea ceremony

To help this show come to fruition, the first 20 pre-paid shows are at a special price of $500

Hundreds of people in New Zealand have been inspired by, acted in, or helped on one of Warwick's fantastically visual theatrical extravaganzas staged in forests, railway stations, churches, and the out of the ordinary.
"Seeing your Alice in Wonderland has left a lasting impression." - A lovely young woman recounted to Warwick

505 home performances of The Hunting of The Snark shown throughout New Zealand, America, and Europe

Rubbings From A Live Man, the acclaimed International Film Festival docu/drama hit about Warwick, directed by the innovative Florian Habicht. "Warwick Broadhead, theatrical maestro, is unabashedly outrageous and often very moving." Peter Calder, NZ Herald

"We should give him the keys to the country."
